"Rip Van Winkle."
 H. A. Sprague presented the play of "Rip Van Winkle" to a full house on Tuesday evening last. This was Mr. Sprague's second appearance in Wausau. Those who heard him when he was here before were prepared for a fine entertainment, but Mr. Sprague's work was far beyond their expectation. Mr. Sprague is an artist with the power of creating his characters upon the platform with such vividness that they go with us long after the evening's entertainment is past. We hope he may come again.—Torch of Liberty, Wausau, Wis. At Assembly hall Friday evening, January 20th.

She was twenty-one years old.

Father Gelsler was in Erie last week to report to Bishop Mullen and he received his orders then to labor in Reynoldsville for the present. Father Brady has been unable for some time to conduct the services of the church and has had to have assistants from other towns. It is to be hoped that Father Brady will soon be able to take up his work again, but while he is unable to do so the members of the congregation have an able young priest in the person of Father Gelsler to administer to their spiritual needs. Father Gelsler said his first mass in this place last Friday morning.

The room was filled, notwithstanding the weather, and the entertainment was up to the standard that has been followed heretofore. Herbert A. Sprague presented "Rip Van Winkle" in monologue, the famous character which Washington Irving gave to literature, and which Joseph Jefferson has immortalized on the stage. Mr. Sprague's "Rip" is a creation of his own, and was a faithful representation of the notorious tippler. He was equally faithful in other characters, and the audience accorded him a generous greeting.—Detroit Free Press. At Assembly hall January 20th.

Moving to Johnsonburg.
 About the first of last October Frank McGinnis, who has been in the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company several years, was transferred from Reynoldsville to Johnsonburg to take charge of an office at that place, and George Camp, of Philadelphia, moved to Reynoldsville to look after the Metropolitan interests in this section.

To-day Mr. McGinnis moves his family to Johnsonburg and in so doing he takes from Reynoldsville one of our oldest inhabitants, Mr. Aaron Welsh, father-in-law of Mr. McGinnis. Mr. Welsh moved with his parents to this section when he was eight years old—sixty-five years ago. The site Reynoldsville now occupies was then a vast wilderness. In the sixty-five years Mr. Welsh has only been away from this section eleven weeks. It was here he was reared, it was here he was married, it was here a wife, a son and dear friends closed their eyes on earthly scenes, and in leaving Reynoldsville it is for him the breaking of tender ties and leaving the only place he has ever remembered of as calling home.

 The program prepared by the committee, Misses Nellie Sutter, Cora Milliren and J. W. Syphrit, for the teacher's local institute to be held at the Salt Works school house, near Hopkins, next Saturday, January 14th, is as follows: Address of welcome, Cora Foltz; response, Miley Stiles; "Aim and Character of Monthly Examinations," Mary Muir, Henry Foltz; "Value and Method of Teaching Oral Spelling," May Corbett, Ethel McCright; "Creating an Aim in Aimless Pupils," Etta Sykes, G. M. London; "To What Extent May We Deviate from Our Daily Program?" Anna Davis; "What is a Parent's Duty Towards his School?" John Dougherty.

In addition to the above program, several of the pupils of the Salt Works' school will recite. During the afternoon Mr. Stiteler, leader of the DuBois Mandolin and Guitar Club, will play a solo on the mandolin with guitar accompaniment by Mr. Baoy.

Horse-Trade Law Suit.
 A law suit was tried in E. Neff's court last Friday, which was the outcome of a horse trade. M. P. Snyder was the plaintiff and W. J. Crawford the defendant. A few weeks ago Snyder and Crawford traded horses and Snyder says that Crawford assured him that the horse he was getting was gentle in the barn and a good worker any place it was put, but the recommendations given were not applicable to it, and he (Snyder) wanted his horse again. Crawford refused to return Snyder's horse and Snyder sued for $75.00 damage. Squire Neff handed down his decision in the case, as follows: Crawford to pay Snyder $25.00 damage and pay all costs. Crawford says he will appeal to a higher court. A number of witnesses from the Deemer Cross Roads section and the Beechwoods were examined and cross-examined on the witness stand.

A Newspaper Worth Reading.
 With a circulation showing a gratifying increase as compared with a year ago, with a more extensive advertising patronage than ever before, with added press facilities which permit of enlarged editions whenever necessary, the Pittsburgh Times comes to the public for 1899. It modestly claims to be a good all-around newspaper, neglecting no opportunity to entertain its readers and sparing no effort or expense to get the news accurately and promptly. While it is Republican in politics it endeavors to be fair in discussion. Overlooking no field of human interest, it is carefully edited and courts the favor of the fire-side rather than the applause of sensation mongers. For reference it submits to the unbiased judgement of newspaper men anywhere in the territory in which it circulates. Three dollars a year or six cents a week.

Killing Deer Out of Season.
 Complaint is made by hunters that the game laws in the Elk county woods adjacent to the Clarion river are being wantonly disregarded. A hunter from this community who went back to his camp there after the season had expired to bring away his effects, says that he knows of two deer being killed there a week or so ago. Notwithstanding the season ended on December 15, a camp of hunters is still in the woods, and are using dogs to chase deer. A citizen from Johnsonburg, who was in town recently, also said that a large number of deer had been killed near there out of season, and that venison was served in some of the hotels under the name of Southdown mutton.—Brookwayville Record.

Excitement About Coal Lands.
 Just at the present time there is a lively hustle for a body of coal lands lying between Punxsutawney and Big Run from Mahoning creek east, embracing good coal territory in Bell and Gaskill townships. At least two companies are anxious to acquire possession of this valuable territory, and the longest pole will knock the pessimists.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

WHO WILL SUCCEED THEM?
 Candidates to be Chosen for Office—Election February 21st.

The voters of this borough are beginning to look around for candidates to fill the various offices at next month's election. None but capable men should be nominated by any of the parties. This thing of nominating a man, without a fitness for the office, simply because he has been a worker in a political party and, therefore, deserves honor, is tomfoolery, and people interested in the town's prosperity should not support such a man, no difference what party nominates him.

Do not allow the caucuses to be controlled entirely by the politicians, but let every intelligent voter attend these nominating gatherings and take an active part in selection of good timber and let the best men win.

Following are some of the retiring officers in this borough: Councilmen, Dr. B. E. Hoover, Albert Reynolds; school directors, C. Mitchell, A. M. Woodward; poor overseer, John Trudgen; auditor, C. C. Gibson; constable, Frank P. Adelsperger; high constable, Jacob Henninger; registers, J. C. Barto and S. B. J. Saxton.

Among the most important of the borough offices will be the selection of two councilmen. As the years pass by the need for men of capacity increases and we are at a place in the history of the town where much care should be exercised in selecting candidates. Men well known in the borough to be of broad minds and habitually careful thinkers, with advanced ideas, should be looked up. Business is business, private or public. Good management in the execution of our borough affairs is essential to its future prosperity. There are important improvements to be considered during the coming year, and therefore, our best men are needed to look after these matters.
